4. Processing of biometric data – biometric facial characteristics

When concluding a business relationship with a client, the controller is obliged to perform a verification of client identification under Act No. 297/2008 Coll. on protection against money laundering and terrorism financing.

The controller enables verification of the identification in several ways: with or without facial biometrics.

If the client decides for the use of facial biometrics system, he will be asked to scan his identity document, taking a so-called selfie photo and taking a liveness test, consisting of the client watching a randomly moving dot on the monitor of his device (mobile, laptop). The system then assesses whether the person on the identity document is identical to the person who took the selfie photo and performed the liveness test. If the client decides to use the facial biometrics system to verify his / her identification, the client is notified that the operator will process his / her data for the period stipulated by law. The legal basis for the processing of biometric data is a special law.

The verification of identification can also be performed in another way (without the processing of biometric facial characteristics). In this case, the data subject will only enter personal information from his / her identity document in an online form and, following the conclusion of a contract with the controller, the client will be asked to take steps needed for the identity verification, in particular sending the scan of the identity document, bank statement from another bank and subsequently making a transfer from the account in question to the controller's account.

8. Rights of the data subject

In connection with the processing of your personal data, you have the following rights stated below. If you exercise any of the rights below, we will notify you of your request being processed within 30 days of its receipt. In justified cases, we may extend this period to 60 days, which we will inform you about.

Right of access by the data subject

You have the right to obtain from the controller confirmation as to whether or not personal data concerning you are being processed, and, where that is the case, access to the personal data and the following information: the purposes of the processing; the recipients or categories of recipient to whom the personal data have been disclosed, in particular recipients in third countries; the envisaged period for which the personal data will be stored. The data subject also has the right to obtain a copy of the personal data that are being processed.

Right to rectification

If you believe Finax is processing incorrect, inaccurate or outdated personal data about you, you have the right to obtain the rectification of personal data. It is important for us to process the accurate personal data about you, so be sure to use this right whenever any of your personal data, that is important to your relationship with us, changes. Based on your corrected or up-to-date information, we will rectify the personal data we process about you.

Right to erasure ('right to be forgotten')

You shall have the right to obtain from the controller the erasure of personal data concerning him or her where one of the following grounds applies and there are no statutory exclusions:

- the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed;
- the data subject withdraws consent on which the processing is based, and where there is no other legal basis for the processing;
- the data subject objects to the processing pursuant to processing of personal data, processing on legitimate grounds and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing, or the data subject objects to the processing pursuant to direct marketing purposes;
- the personal data have been unlawfully processed.

However, please be aware that, in regard to the legal obligations that Finax as an investment firm has, in particular in the areas of regulating securities trading, combating money laundering, terrorist financing and fraud prevention, Finax is obliged to store personal data of their clients as well as potential clients even after the end of the business relationship and therefore this personal data can be deleted only after expiry of the set deadlines. For more information on the specific retention periods, see Chapter 7. Personal Data Retention Period.

- the processing is unlawful and you oppose the erasure of the personal data and requests the restriction of their use instead;
- we no longer need the personal data for the purposes of the processing, but they are required by you for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims;
- you object the processing of personal data pending the verification whether the legitimate grounds of the controller override those of the data subject.

In these cases, Finax will not delete your personal data, but will mark it and restrict its processing for certain purposes.

Right to data portability

You shall have the right to receive the personal data concerning you, which you have provided to a controller and the processing is carried out by automated means in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format. You have the right to transmit those data to another controller. If it is technically feasible, we will directly transmit your personal data to another controller.

Right to object and automated individual decision-making

You shall have the right to object, on grounds relating to your particular situation, to processing of personal data concerning you which is based on our interest, including profiling based on those provisions. Where personal data are processed for direct marketing purposes, you shall have the right to object at any time to processing of personal data concerning you.

You also have the right to object if your personal data is processed automatically, which may result in a decision that has legal effects for you or otherwise affects you significantly.

In the event of the objection of processing of your personal data that are being processed on a legal basis of Finax's legitimate interest, Finax will assess the situation on the basis of the information provided by you and inform you whether Finax's legitimate interest prevails in a particular situation and the processing will continue or your rights as a data subject prevail and the processing will be stopped.

Right to withdraw consent

If your personal data are being processed based on the consent, you are entitled to withdraw this consent at any time. However, withdrawal of consent has no impact on legality of processing resulting from consent before its withdrawal.

Right to lodge a complaint with a main supervisory authority

if you consider that the processing of personal data relating to you infringes this Regulation, you have the right to lodge a complaint with a main supervisory authority - the Office for Personal Data Protection of the Slovak Republic,

Office for Personal Data Protection of the Slovak Republic
Hraničná 12
